

Scenario #1

A local educational agency (LEA) has received a letter from the Texas Education Agency (TEA) notifying the LEA that it has been selected to participate in a random validation of the LEA's Comprehensive Needs Assessment process.

The LEA has a really nice-looking district improvement plan. It includes a list of LEA strengths and needs and aligns the needs with the NCLB goals. When asked by TEA to provide documentation of the LEA's Comprehensive Needs Assessment process, the LEA submits the district improvement plan to TEA by the date requested.

- Is the LEA in compliance?
- Why or why not?

--

Scenario #2

A local educational agency (LEA) has received a letter from the Texas Education Agency (TEA) notifying the LEA that it has been selected to participate in a random validation of the LEA's Comprehensive Needs Assessment process.

The LEA has a really nice-looking district improvement plan. It includes a list of LEA strengths and needs and aligns the needs with the NCLB goals. It even includes a description of the LEA's Comprehensive Needs Assessment process. When asked by TEA to provide documentation of the LEA's Comprehensive Needs Assessment process, the LEA submits the district improvement plan to TEA by the date requested.

- Is the LEA in compliance?
- Why or why not?